STARVING SETTLERS.

Thousands of Farmers Without Means to Purchase the Necessaries of Life-Liberal Aid Needed,

By Telegraph to The Times.

OHICAGO, Jan. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] An Associated Press reporter returned from the Northwest brings with him a tale of terrible suffering and destitution.

who spent some days in the afflicted districts, says: "However hard landsharks and other interested parties may try to keep the truth from the people of this country, they cannot long be successful. Successive failures for four years of the crops have reduced those even formerly well to do to a condition of the most sore distress. Many thousand families are entirely without means of any kind. They lack the wherewithal to purchase the necessaries of life."

"In Minor county." Paxton said, "they have no four, the staple of life being badly-ground cornmeal, and there is a noticeable insufficiency of that. Every farm is mortgaged, in many cases for more than a sale under present prices would realize. Most of the stock has been levied on and sold by the Sheriff at public auction, the ridiculously low prices obtained being eloqueut, not only of the starving condition of the catile, but of the scarcity of means in the community. Cows fetched as low as $5 apiece, horses $8 and $10, while sheep and pigs are simply unsalable, there being nothing to feed them with. Women and children bear evidences of the hardships they have undergone in their pinched and meager faces. In many instances they are quite unprovided with clothing with which to withstand the rigors of winter, what they now have being in a ragged and worn-out condition."

now have being in a ragged and worn-out condition."

"Flour is most needed," said Paxton, "especially in Kingsbury and Minor counties. Clothing for women and children, provisions of any kind just now would be a godsend to thousands who are in a semi-starying condition. Unless relief is given with a liberal hand this winter in South Dakota you will hear of many deaths from starvation, and the reports will undoubtedly have afoundation in fact."

Mrs. A. C. Cleveland of Edmonds, S. D., confirms Paxton's story. This lady is now in Minneapolis where she is making heroic efforts in behalf of the sufferers.

NATURAL GAS EXPLOSION.

German Hostility to Mataafa the Hardest Obstacle Encountered.

Secretary Blaine Details the Instructions Given to the United States Commissioners - A Diplematic Triumph.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The Senate today, in secret session, resolved to make public the Samoan treaty negotiated in Berlin last spring, and which was published last Sunday. Secretary Blaine's letter to the President accompanying the treaty is very long. He speaks of the instructions given to the commissioners, saying that they were told that the United States desired a speedy and amicable settlement of the Samoan question; that it maintained its full equality of right in the disposition of these questions, but was influenced as much by an anxious desire to secure to the people of Samoa conditions of healthy, prosperous and civilized life, and was bound to protect the interests of its citizens, and that the President hoped and be-lieved the result of the consultation would go to prove that it was not the wish of any of these governments to subordinate the rights of the Samoans to the go to prove that it was not the wish of any of these governments to subordinate the rights of the Samoans to the exigencies of grasping commerce or political ambition for territorial extension on the part of any of the treaty powers. The commissioners were also instructed that the conference was to be regarded as a continuation of the former conference on another basis, inasmuch as the United States could not admit that the conditions had been changed by any subsequent occurrences in the South Pacific. The subjects as to which the commissioners were instructed were under five heads.

First—They were directed to ask the restoration of the status quo in order to remove the disturbance caused by the forcible intervention of Germany and the deportation of Mailetoa. This was not to be, however, an ultimatum which would close the conference.

Second—The organization of a stable governmental system for the islands whereby native independence and autonomy should be preserved free from the control or preponderating influence of any foreign government.

Taird—The adjustment of land claims.

ponderating influence of any foreign government.

Third—The adjustment of land claims.
Fourth—The prohibition of the sale of firearms and alcoholic liquors.

Fifth—The question of municipal administration of Apia as a foreign settlement under due reservation of extra territorial rights.

The Secretary says: The protocols of the several sessions, herewith submitted of Shablons, De Caib county, in this State, which spent some days in the afflicted districts, says: "However hard landsharks and other interested parties may try to keep the truth from the people of this country, they cannot long be successful. The revenue question has been adjusted with due regard to the lim-ited resources of the natives and the obligaited resources of the natives and the obliga-tions of the three powers to share in the burden, which, by force of circumstances, it has been necessary to impose in protec-tion of their common interests and for the maintenance of peace and order." In conclusion, the Secretary expresses the hope that the treaty may be conductive to the good government of Samoa under na-tive authority and to a lasting settlement of the questions which have agitated the three powers and their complex relations to these islands.

IN SEVEN ROUNDS. Mike Lucie Knocked Out by Jimmy Carroll.

Carroll.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Mike Lucie of Philadelphia and Jimmy Carroll of Brooklyn, middle-weights, tought at the Golden Gate Club tonight for a purse of $1200. Lucie's weight was less than 158 pounds, while Carroll weighed 160%. Joe McAuliffe was referee. Carroll forced the fighting from the start and landed some hard blows on the head and ribs while Lucie generally fell short. and ribs, while Lucie generally fell short. A blow on Lucie's right ribs in the third round left him evidently distressed. Close fighting was the order of the night, and Carroll's sledge-hammer swings kept the Philadelphiau in the corners and against the ropes. Lucie appeared feeble, and at the end of the fourth round was practically a whipped man.

In the fifth round Lucie fought desperately, and brought Carroll to his knees with a right-hander on the ear. Lucie's lips were bleeding and he was so groggy that he fell at the end of the round.

In the sixth round Lucie could not defend himself, and Carroll, getting him against the ropes, gave him right and left. Lucie fell, but soon arose and struck several good blows. Carroll would have knocked him out, however, but he was winded himself.

In the seventh round Carroll started in to finish Lucie, and sent him down with a right-hander on the jaw. Lucie's head struck the floor heavily, and it was eight seconds before he arose. He stood helpless for a minute only to be knocked down and out by Carroll's terrible right.

Charges of Swindling Denied. DENVER (Colo.), Jan. 22.—President Batchelder of the Colorado Mining Ex-change and Brownlow Mining Company change and Brownlow Mining Company today received several letters from the East, relative to the story recently published in St. Louis and Chiengo that his company had attempted to swindle stockholders. Mr. Bythook, one of the gentlemen referred to, writes me denying the report, and says the story was gotten up in the office of a mining broker in St. Louis for the purpose of maupulating stocks. The story is also publicly denied by Judge Hanna of Meadville, Colo., attorney for the old Nestor Company and of the Brownlow Company. The local papers near the mine in Park county, Colo., denounce the reports as the inerest twaddle, and as wholly false. Mr. Ensign of Chicaco also indignantly denies thein. His name should not have been dragged into it. He has nothing to do with it. The management or mismanagement is wholly my own, and I have no fears regarding the matter, and nothing to conceal."

who bears an unsavoy reputation in police circles of the city, but he has interposed a somewhat ingenious defense in his case.

In August last J. Shumacher left a fine, hammerless double-barreled shotgun at the Tufts-Lyon Arms Commany's place to be fixed, and a few days thereafter it was stolen from the store. The matter was put in the hands of the police, and from clews obtained a young fellow named Dock Dowling, a well-known hard character, was arrested on suspicion. Shortly thereafter the gun was found in the possession of Jack Dunn in his house on New High street, and he was arrested. When the gun was found Dowling admitted his guilt, confessing that he stole the weapon and sold it to Dunn for $8, although it is worth about $200.

Dowling went upon the stand yesterday and told a straight story about the transaction, which the defense did not seem able to phase upon cross-examination. He is a confessed criminal, served a sentence from San Francisce in the House of Correction, and has been engaged in petty thieving in Los Angeles but his story seemed to be true. He said that he took the gun to Jack Dunn's house the night after he stole it, and made a trade with him for it. He at first wanted $20, but as Dunn would not give it took $8. He told Dunn that the gun was stolen, after the trade, and he

IS HE A PROPHET?

A Serious Matter to Be Settled by J. W. Potts. A few days ago this paper published the following:

"Prophet Benjamin" writes to The Times, warning the public to look out for heavy rains and washouts during the last five days of this month. He does not say that he is the seventh son of a seventh son, or assign any other reason why his prophecy should be credited, and it might be just as well for people to delay the building of their arks until Prophet Potts is heard from.

The dumurrer farce to the Carl Browne indictment came up in Judge Cheney's court yesterday morning.

J. Marion Brooks, Esq., kept Grand Juror Thomas Goss on the witness stand for nearly an hour, in the endeavor to make him say that he had such prejudice against the defendant.

If the Times as follows:

Dear Sir: I have instructed my men, who are planting orchard trees for me, to hurry up and get them in, while the ground. If the mistaken in my opinion, I shall step aside and let Prophet Benjamin take the floor.

And the very next day—the very next morning, in fact—after the publication of the substance of this missive, it rained. That was day before lication of the substance of this missive, it rained. That was day before yesterday.

A reporter of The Times put in a large part of the day hunting Prophet Potts, to ask him whether, in this last prophecy of his, he had not bisected a canine, so to speak. But he was nowhere to be found, and the inference was that he had betaken himself to the woods.

What excuse this long-time anointed prophet of weather for Los Angeles can offer for such an astonishing miscue is therefore only to be surmised. He might possibly argue that the forthcoming rain was too close to be focused by his prophetic eye, or, like the girl with a baby, he might urge in palliation that it was only a little one. But, will this go down with the Los Angeles public?

Prophet Potts is now placed on his mettle, and he must clear this thing up, or Prophet Benjamin stands a good chance to come in and capture the bun of prognostication.

A TEST CASE

Which May Effect Houses of Ill-repute Generally.

A case of something more than common interest will come before Justice Austin this morning at 10 o'clock. For some time past there has been a strong suspicion that one or more houses of prostitution exist in the city limits, and at the hour above given the matter will be ventilated. Some days ago a woman named Eila Pierce called at Justice Aus-tin's courtroom, in company with Mrs. named Ella Pierce called at Justice Austin's courtroom, in company with Mrs. Watson, and stated that Lizzie Miller, who keeps a house of prostitution at No. 202 Alameda street, was illegally detaining a dress, toilet set and other articles belonging to her, the value of which was out at $237.50. She said that she wanted to leave the house and reform, but that the Miller woman would not let her take her effects, claiming that she owed her money for board, and she wanted to begin suit for their recovery. Justice Austin explained what she would have to do, and after she swore out her complaint, the Pierce woman went out to try and give bond. what she would have to do, and after she swore out her complaint, the Pierce woman went out to try and give bond. She did not succeed, however, but was allowed to file her suit, and the matter dropped out of sight for the time being. It was revived again on Monday, when a complaint was sworn out against the Miller woman, charging her with keeping a house of prostitution. A warrant was issued for her arrest, and yesterday morning she was arraigned before Justice Austin, when she pleaded not guilty, and the trial was set for Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, with bail fixed at $150 cash, which was given. It appears that the great trouble in bringing suits of this character is the dimedity of getting witnesses, as it is necessary to get one of the inmates to swear to the character of the place, which, under ordinary circumstances, is almost impossible. In the present case Ella Pierce will appear against Lizzie Miller, and if the State is successful, it is possible that a general crusade against houses of this character will be commenced.

The defense had one witness on the stand before adjournment for the day, Pat Long, who was a prisoner in the City Jail while Dowling was there. Long testified that Dowling did make the statements referred to, of "doing up" Dunn. The theory of the defense is that Dunn only loaned Dowling the stolen property. The case will be on trial again today.

Yesterday was the last day in the taking of testimony in the horizontal-raise case of Phillips vs. City Tax Collector Len Thompson et al. The defease introduced considerable additional testimony in regard to the method of making the raise in the assessment of property on Spring and Main streets, tending to show that the Board of Equalization conducted its business in a perfectly legal and just manner. The case will be submitted on briefs, and it will probably be some days before a decision is reached.

Delinquent Saloon-keepers to Be Brought Up With a Short Turn if They Do Not Pay by the Middle of the Month.

The members of the Police Commission were rather slow about coming together again yesterday afternoon, and at 2 o'clock only Mayor Hazard was present. Ten minutes later Commissioner Lewis, accompanied by Chief Glass, arrived, and was followed by Commissioner Knox, who came in at 2:20 o'clock, making a quorum, when the board was at once called to when had aiready been acted upon, was received and filed, as was also one from the Chief, which took the same course.

The License Inspector presented a report, stating that the following saloon licenses remained unpaid on the 22d: Albert Osthoff, No. 46 North Main street; Thomas K. Plant, Hoff and Hayes streets; William Schumacher, No. 4 North Main street; Steinfeldt & Wendt, No. 36 North Spring street; Claus Sammann, under Pico House; Rœmer & Silverberg, No. 239 North Main street; William McLaughlin, Commercial and Wilmington Streets, closed up and unpaid; Beebe & Gallagher, Washington Garden, closed and unpaid; Ed Schnaubel, No. 43 South Fort street; Twohig & Hatley, No. 541 New Main street; H. M. Good, No. 130 West First street.

The report brought up the old rule adopted by the board some months ago, and Commissioner Knox, after some remarks, moved that hereafter, when a saloon license is not paid by the 15th of the current month, the license shall be revoked, and before being again granted a regular application, with the signatures of the property-owners, will have to be filed, and take its regular course. Adopted.

In the matter of the present delinquents, the Clerk was instructed to at once notify them that if the licenses are not paid by the next meeting of the board the rule will be put in force against them also,

The following applications for transfers of saloon licenses were presented, and, being in regular form, were granted: To Reiger & Vasteno, No. 181 North Los Angeles street, from F. Goldfin; H. and J. FIRE MATTERS.

Mrs. Bigelow Proposes to Sell or Lease to the City.

The Fire Commissioners met in the Mayor's office yesterday morning at 10 ock, with His Honor in the chair, and Commissiones Keefe, Kuhrts and Lovell present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, after which a communication from the City Clerk was laid before the commission, transmitting a letter from Mrs. L. M. Bigelow, by her attorneys, claiming that the judgment she had obtained against the city in the matter of the Plaza engine-house was final, and offering to sell the property to the city for $33,000, or rent it for $125 per month, payable in advance. The communications were referred to the City Attorney.

A communication was received from Mrs. Bridget Wilson to the Council, informing that body that in the future the rent of the Main-street engine-house would be increased to $125 per month, payable in advance.

On motion of Commissioner Kuhrts, the matter was referred to a committee, consisting of Commissioners Kuhrts and Lovell, who were instructed to consult with l. W. Hellman and others, and also to make recommendations to the Council in reference to the lease of a new building for an engine-house and hook-and-ladder house combined.

The petition of Thomas Morrissey and others, asking that a fire-plug be located at or near the corner of Seventh and Matee streets, was read and referred to the Chief for investigation.

A rather facetious communication from J. W. Kellman, complaining about the noise made by ringing the firebells, was read and placed on file.

The resignation of H. J. Prim, the tillerman of the hook-and-ladder truck, was read and accepted, the same to take effect February 1st. and, on motion of Commissioner Lovell, Thomas Romero was appointed to the cpieft.

The payroll of the department for the month of January, amounting to $3810, was approved, as were also demands amounting to $17.50. The demands amounting was laid before the commission, transmitting a letter from Mrs. L. M. Bige-ised to send the chamber a lot of seed for distribution among the farmers. Mr. Patton sent out the following circular yesterday:

To the Farmers: There has been received at the Chamber of Commerce a quantity of sugar beet seed for distribution among the farmers. It is of the utmost importance that this seed be thoroughly tested and the results carefully noted and reported to the chamber. On the action of the farmers in this matter will largely depend the establishment of beet sugar factories in Southern California. The farmers will directly profit by this industry, and this whole region will be benefited. Farmers who desire any of this seed can be supplied at 127‡ West First street, or by addressing H. W. Patton, secretary.

SCHOOL FUNDS.

Details of the Second Quarterly Ap County Superintendent of Schools W. W. Seaman furnishes the subjoined statement:

oined statement:

The following is the second quarterly apportionment of school funds for the year ending June 30, 1890:

This money is derived from the county taxes, and is known as the county school fund.

One teacher is assigned for every 70 census children or fraction thereof equal to 20, and $315 is apportioned for each teacher so assigned.

This apportionment is $65 more per teacher than the corresponding one of last year, and while the tax levy for school purposes was but 16 cents on the $100, the amount realized is sufficient to produce the most generous apportion ever made to the schools of this county.

This money, together with the State fund to be apportioned in March, will enable nearly every district in the county to maintain school for nine or ten months during the present school year.

A RATE WAR BECOMING MORE and Possibly It Has Been Already Inaugurated in This City-For Worth and Texas Office Given Up-Some Thoughts About the Train Robbery.

Prospects for a rate war are growing day by day, and the chances are that in a few weeks the Southern Pacific and Santa Fé will be by the ears. The order has evidently gone forth in San Francisco that passenger rates shall be cut, although the heads of roads de-clare that they know nothing about it, and say that the agents are acting without authority. This cannot be possible, for railroad agents are not men of wealth by any manner of means, and they are not paid salaries big enough to justify them in cutting rates simply for the fun of making it

big enough to justify them in cutting rates simply for the fun of making it up to their employers.

In this city things have taken a singular turn. There is quite a circus going on regarding the carrying of passengers to Whittier on the day of the celebration of the laying of the corner - stone of the Retorm School. It seems that an application to carry several companies of the National Guard and city and county officials from Los Angeles and San Diego over the roads to Whittier free is the cause of the trouble. The general agents were not as open with each other as they have been in the past, and the first thing they knew there was war between them. During the past few days they have been running back and forth trying to squarethings, but they seem to get deeper in the mire, and they are charging all kinds of rates.

The trouble seems to be that both men are new in Los Angeles, and both are bright railroad men and they are of them will have much to say, but from the little hints dropped and their minds to have war, and the people are anxious for it.

There was another shake-up in the Union Pacific matters in this city yesterday. The office of the Fort Worth and Texas Railway Company was abandoned and its business turned over to the agents of the Union Pacific absorbed the Fort Worth and Texas Railway Company was abandoned and its business turned over to the agents of the Union Pacific absorbed the Fort Worth and Texas Railway of Georgia to Savannah, and from that deal. The Union Pacific agents in this city are preparing to do a big business in the near future.

The Santa Fé is branching out. On the 20th inst. it entered into traffic arrangements with the Fort Scott and Memphis and the Central Railway of Georgia to Savannah, and from that point to New York city and éthat point to New York city and ethat point to New

A dispatch was received at the Southern Pacific headquarters in this city from Tulare, stating that the man who was shot by the train-robbers, Tuesday morning, is not yet dead. Detective Will Smith and other Student Pacific detectives are him at the entrying to hunt the scoundress down. It is a little strange that Wells, Fargo & Co. do not protect their men better, or give the messengers a chance to defend the treasure in their cars. Had Messenger Minnehan's car been made with concealed loopholes he might have proved one too many for the robbers. He could have looked out, and either used his shotgun through the leophole or opened the door and then turned both barrels of his gun into the bodies of the robbers. It is not at all surprising that nine-tenths of the messengers prove to be cowards under such circumstances, for it takes a brave man, indeed, to show fight when he can't see his enemy and has no idea how great the numbers may be. Give them loopholes that can'be concealed, and robbers in the future will not have a walkover.

and robbers in the future will not have a walkover.

A number of people were puzzled yesterday to know what the conductor and his men were doing while the Goshen robbery was going on. The train was stopped a few minutes after it left Goshen, and it is the habit or duty of all conductors to go forward whenever a train comes to a standstill to see what the trouble is. In this case the train was over 35 minutes at a dead standstill, and so far as can be learned the conductor and his brakemen knew nothing until the robbers had departed. It may be another case of the typical policeman and the fight just around the corner, but it is a matter that should be investigated by the railroad company.

IT is said that the President likes billiards and plays a game or two with "Lige" Halford frequently. Not many years ago an elder in the Presbyterian Church playing billiards would have caused a painful shock to the religious community. Gen. Harrison thinks it is no sin to play a game of billiards. He sometimes spends Sunday in recreations, such as yachting and driving instead of worship; and, notwithstanding that he is a Presbyterian elder, and that recent synods of his church have denounced the theatre as one of the chief allurements of Satarf, and enjoined Presbyterians to shun it, the President is frequently seen at the Washington theaters. CHIEF CROWLY of San Francisco speaks very strongly against dime novels, to which he attributes much of the juvenile depravity which exists in that city. He believes that every boy who is brought to the City Prison is a reader of this sort of literature, and not only the boys, but the girls too. These dime novels are turned out by one or two houses in New York, which have a monopoly in their publication. Immense quantities of them are printed every week, and the demand is constantly growing. A majority of the little cigar and stationery stores throughout the United States keep for certain Hindoo customs has been sale a quantity of them. The clerical started in Bombay. OVERLAND UNOBSTRUCTED.

The extraordinary snowstorms oc curring this year in the Sierra Nevada Mountains go far toward demonstrating to the world the necessity for access to the Pacific Coast in some way, if possible, without crossing that great barrier; some line less subject to obstruction and practicable the year through. Such a line is found in the one projected from Salt Lake to this city. The Sierra Nevadas constitute a huge natural wall shutting off Northern California from all direct communication with the countries east of it. but no such wall intervenes between Southern California and the East. This half of the State can be reached from the Atlantic side without impedment at all seasons, and the city of Los Angeles, the natural entrepot for the continental trade, is always acces-

The people of the North, with commendable energy, have sought to overcome obstructions to communication with the other side of the concinent, by building nearly fifty miles of snow sheds, and they have thus accomplished some degree of relief; but times like the present will come, when neither the housing of the road nor any other device can resist the forces of Nature. At the high altitudes of the Sierras the burden of snow will on occasions prove irresistible, and break down any structure that man can create, cutting off communication with the East, for periods more or less extended. In Europe, mountain barriers similar, but less formidable, have been partially overcome by the construction of tunnels, as in the case of Mts. Cenis and St. Gothard, but similar relief can never be had in making the passage of the snowy mountains of California. The distance through them, below the heavy snow line, is too great for tunneling, and this barrier must therefore always remain in the way of direct intercourse between Northern California and the States further east. If it is a matter of necessity to have a more certain and practicable route between these States and the Pacific, such a route is found by coming directly to Los Angeles, as it is understood the Union Pacific Railroad contemplates doing. An outlet of that sort on the western ocean cannot but be desirable for that great company.

The interruption of mails, of travel, and of traffic, by snow, is by no means the only consideration calling for this southern outlet for that extensive system of railroads. The cost and danger of contending against those terrible snowstorms are large factors in the calculation. The expense of constructing and keeping in repair half a hundred miles in length of strongly-built snow houses must be something enormous, and then the loss of life that attends this great enterprise from year to year is by no means inconsiderable. Another item not to be lost sight of is the very large additional cost of operating a mountain road over that of one through a level country. It was recentiv appounced that the Southern Pacific Company had determined to abandon its snowsheds on the Cen-tral line, and depend on the rotary snowplows, but the late storm has shown that even these monster machines cannot overcome an extra heavy snowfall.

There may be some romance in a trip by rail over the snowy mountains of the Pacific Coast, but, to one fully conscious at the time, a second trip will afford less enjoyment than the first, and will hardly be sought while another route, less elevated and ordinarily attractive, is in sight.

The great space between the Mississippi and the Pacific is being rapidly filled up. States already stretch nearly over the whole of it, and a growing population demands the best, the saf-est and surest outlet to the Pacific. The man who had so little sense as to let himself be made population demands the best, the safos Angeles is in the way of such an outlet, and the topography of the country east of California points directly toward it.

WHILE Brice has been elected as United States Senator from Ohio, he is not yet by any means secured in his seat. The United States Constitution declares that a Senator shall be, when elected, "an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen." Any time within five years, if Mr. Brice had aspired to become a member of Congress from a district in the city of New York, or a State Senator, or member of the General Assembly, his eligibility would have been undisputed Yet he will be elected a United States Senator as an inhabitant of the State of Ohio. As a bondsman of contractors on the new New York aqueduct, he swore that he was a householder, and the Attorney-General of the State has recorded his opinion in writing that a householder constitutes a voter if he has lived a sufficient period in the State.

THE fight over the location of the World's Fair waxes quite warm. Washington is still pressing its claims, but outside cities do not attach much weight to its chances. The Cincinnati Times-Star savs:

Star says:

Several enthusisstic inhabitants of the National Capital are again engaged in urging Washington as the place in which to hold the World's Fair. Might as well attempt to crowd a quart of water into a pint cup. Washington could not hold a World's Fair for the good and sufficient reason that she could not entertain the people who would flock to it. To entertain her visitors she would have to transform all her Government buildings into intells, and even then guests would be compelled to improvise couches on roofs and on the sidewalks. There is hardly room in the Washington hostelries for an ordinary crop of office-seekers. As a place for holding the World's Fair the National Capital is as much out of the question, as would be the White House door-yard.

HERE is a very straightforward expression of opinion on a southern social topic, from the Birmingham (Ala.)

No man in this section can be the associate of both whites and negroes. It is the prevalent idea in the South that the white man who associates with the negroes is not as good as the negroes, and the idea is well founded.

A NATIVE movement to break up denunciators of Sunday papers would permitted to marry under 16 and no do well to turn their batteries on the daughters under 10. No man is to marry after 50, or marry a second wife

I have too much personal interest there to wish to injure that section, and have none to sell here—9 days in the 5 northern Congressional districts and 5 days in the 6th yours. And when the financial report is made of the expenditure of the money it will show that 30 per cent. of it used in showing the party around the State was spent in your

"What Can It Mean?" [San Bernard'no Courier, Dem.]
Green, the affidavit-maker and expostmaster of Los Angeles, is, it seems, not so sure of the Los Angeles poatoffice again as he thought he was. The telegraph says that his nomination has been "hung up" by the President at the request of Vice-President Morton. What can it mean? What influence has been brought to bear on Vice-President Morton to induce him to "hang up" the affidavit-maker? To us, under the circumstances, it would seem very bad politics to give Green little sense as to let himself be made a puppet of as he has done, will hardly add strength to the party in Los Angeles, especially after he has made such a serious charge against a leading Republican editor. But, we must confess that the Republican situation in Los Angeles has its charm, and a defightful charm it is—to a Bemecratic newspaper.

Denial That the Bank of England is Buying Builion.

London, Jan. 22.—|By Cable and Associated Press.] Nothing has been published here in regard to the report that the Bank chaser of silver buillon, and contemplates the issue of £1 notes, redeemable in silver as soon as the necessary authority can be obtained. Careful inquiries in financial circies, this morning, resulted in showing that a few had heard of the report, and they were incredulous as to its accuracy. The chief financial authorities expressed the opinion that the report was wholly without foundation in fact. They asserted posi-tively that the Bank of England had made no such purchase of builton and was not buying silver now. Further than this they declared that purchases of silver were not being made by any London bank.

declared that purchases of silver were not being made by any London bank.

With reference to the alleged intention of the Bank of England to issue £1 notes, attention was drawn to the fact that neither the Bank of England nor any bank in England could issue such notes without special authority to that end by an act of Parliament. It was considered doubt ful whether so conservative an institution as the Bank of England would be making preparations for so radical a departure from its previous history before definite authority had been secured. Silver buillion is 30 of id lower per ounce today. The Bank of England rate of discount continues at 6 per cent, as for some time past.

Further inquiries were prosecuted this afternoon among financial authorities in regard to the plan of issuing £1 notes. The prevailing opinion seemed to be that the present report was based on the revival of an old story that Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, intends to introduce a bill in Parliament granting the bank authority to assue £1 notes. However, there are indictored.

the Exchequer, intends to introduce a bill in Parliament granting the bank authority to issue £1 notes. However, there are indications which would seem to justify the conclusion that Goschen really contemplates introducing a measure of that description. During the Parliamentary recess the treasury authorities had frequent conferences with leading bankers of the metropolis touching the advisability of authorizing the issue of notes of small denominations. In these conferences the authorizing the issue of notes of small denominations. In these conferences the question of issuing notes of the value of 10s as well as £1 has been under discussion, and the understanding is that in case such notes are issued they are to be made redeemable in silver.

Another significant fact is that in view of the likelihood of legislation of the character indicated the mint has greatly reduced the coinage of gold 10s pieces.

GLADSTONE SPEAKS

He Thinks America Can Afford to Build a Navy.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Gladstone, speaking at Chester, declined to criticise the course of Salisbury in the dispute with Portugal until he was more fully informed as to the details of the case.

Referring to the United States' plans for an enlarged navy, he said: "That country is still enjoying the blessings and comforts of restricted trade, and therefore would pay forty or fifty per cent. more to build a navy than it would if contented to compete on equal terms with other nations. But its resources are so great that it can afford to pay for the luxury of potection." The worst of it was that whill America would cite England's example for enlarging her navy, England will give a similar excuse for a further naval increase. Referring to the United States' plans for a case of oppression practiced upon an indi-vidual by a legislative chamber and ex-ecutive government without parallel since the time of Charles II.

HIS FAVORITE THEME. Cleveland Still Harping on Tariff Reform.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—|By the Associated Press.| Morrison Mumford, editor of the Kansas City Times, who is visiting New York, has had an interview with ex-President Cleveland, which he telegraphed to his paper tonight. The following portions of general interest are taken from it: "Mr. Cleveland has lost none of his zeal

"Mr. Cleveland has lost some of his zeal for tariff reform which inspired his celebrated message. It is most gratifying to me,' he said, that the masses as well as the leaders of the party are taking hold of the tariff issue with such spirit and evident determination to win. My letters from every part of the country show the extent and depth of the agriction. I was greatly pleased to find in Boston a degree of earnestness and fervor beyond that of men engaged in politics. From my observations there and in New York, and from my correspondence, I conclude that the thinking men of the Nation are massed almost solidly on the side of tariff reform."

"I then said to Mr. Cleveland that the Democratic party is already preparing for 1892, and is looking forward to that campaign with confidence and a sentiment virtually unanimous that he should be out leader.

"As to that,' he replied, 'it is the cause

'As to that,' he replied, 'it is the cause

"As to that," he replied, "it is the cause and not personal consideration that should concern us. It is consulted my own feelings, I would prefer to have some one else take the lead."
"But no one else is thought of amongst the Democratic masses.
""Men who have the elements of leadership develop rapidly, and it is a long time till 1892," quickly replied the ex-President. It is not a matter of men but of principles. It would be a pity not to carry forward the work which the party has so grandly inaugurated, and there ought to be no hait until the ends almed at are compassed and the people are in full possession of the benefits and blessings which an accumulation of inequalities. possession of the benefits and blessings which an accumulation of inequalities, called into existence by apathy on one side, self-interest on the other, have diverted from them. I rejoice in the feeling that the Democratic party is the repository of the best principles and purposes, that its ranks teem with the intelligent young manhood of the country, that it enjoys a complete monopoly of every American policy not merely sectional or time-serving."

MORE SNOW FALLING.

The Great Blockade Not Yet Raised.

Rotary Plows and Hundreds of Men of Little Avail.

Storm-bound Travelers in Danger of Suffering Hunger.

Union Pacific's Tracks Opened, but the Central Line Is Still Blockaded in the Sierra Nevada.

By Telegraph to The Times.
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Last night at 12 o'clock the Central Pacific Railroad was clear except for a distance of about four miles, and a retary plow was expected to push aside th obstacles in a couple of hours, and all trains were ordered placed in readiness to move. The rotary plow entered a deep Shady Run and got stalled in the snow, which had turned to ice, but the plow could have forced its way through that barrier had not an immense slide come down and buried not an immense slide come down and buried two of the locomotives. Two hundred men were ordered to shovel away the slide, and after a delay of two hours the plow was again ready to move. Then a part of the machinery on one of the plow engines broke, causing a delay of two hours more. Another large body of snow then came crashing down and derailed the plow. Men were sent for Jackscrews, chains, etc., and the work of getting it upon the track is progressing as rapidly as possible. It is expected that it will be moved some time tonorrow.

By tomorrow morning 1000 men will be engaged in shoveling snow on the four miles of obstructed track, and will be kept at it until the rotary is again in operation, when it is thought the road can be cleared within thirty minutes. Snow has been drifting heavily today, but the road has been kept open between Truckee and Cascade.

The west-bound overland train has been moved to Blue Cañon. The other train which was snowbound between Shady Run and Blue Cañon has been moved to Cisco. Another large lot of provisions was sent to the blockade tonight. If the rotary is unable to move, the superintendent will endeavor to have the road shoveled clear in two days. two of the locomotives. Two hundred men ville spacial says: The Quincy stage arrived today. Jin Parker, the driver, brought news that two men named Brown and Freeze started from Merrimac last Wednesday on snowshoes to Buck's ranch, a distance of 20 miles. They have not reached their destination, and it is supposed they got lost and perished in the snow.

There has been no stage from Quincy to Merrimac since the first week of December. A tew letters have been brought over the mountain by men on showshoes. The snow is packing up in the mountains, and has reached the greatest depth ever known. Provisions are getting short in the mountain towns. If rain should set in on the hills agreat flood would follow in the Sacramento Vailey.

BEOWAWE (Nev.), Jan. 22.-The weather is still blustering and the storm with high winds is causing the snow to drift badly, filling up the roads and cuts as fast as they are opened for travel. The mercury was 30° below zero last night. The new Her 30° below zero last night. The new Hercules rotary plow goes west by a special fast train tonight with the division superintendent in charge to wage war against the mountains of snow in the sierras.

Stewart and his teamster, George Greenup, were lost in the last storm with a 30-mule team, and wandered around in the cold and deep snow all night. When daylight came they were within one mile of home and almost perished. The mules were so exhausted that they would not pull the wagon to the ranch.

SNOWING IN THE STERRAS. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—It is snowing heavily in the Sierras again today, increasing the labors of the railway companies and lessening the prospect that the great blockade will be speedily broken. Hope was entertained last night that the imprisoned trains would break through, but the blockade now threatens to extend over several days more. It is reported that one of the rotary snowplows has been disabled near Shady Run, while working toward Blue Cañon to release the trains stuck in the drifts there.

FURIOUS STORM AT TRUCKER.

FURIOUS STORM AT TRUCKER. TRUCKEE, Jan. 22.—The stormenced again this morning. The blown a gale. At Summit and Cisco the blown a gale. At Summit and Cisco the snowfall is reported to be the heaviest of any day since the storm began. It is snowing and blowing hard on the mountains tonight. The snowpow train will be kept running all night from Summit to Tunnel No. 18 so that the road cannot be blocked. The new cyclone rotary plow left Ogden this evening. It is expected to arrive here on Friday.

SNOWBOUND PASSENGERS AT SIMS. Sims, Jan. 22.—There are smaller hopes than ever this morning as to the trains get ting out. Passengers are well provided for so far, but supplies will have to come in a few days as there are over 300 people here to feed. Snow began falling in the night at the rate of an inch and a half an heur and still continues. The train from Sacra-mento with fuel and provisious has not ar-

THE UNION PACIFIC OPEN. Portland (Or.), Jan. 22.—The Union Pacific road is all open according to the Pacific road is all open according to the latest reports. Two delayed trains arrived here from the East today bringing passengers and mails. Trains left here today for the East. The track is reported heavy and of course no trains are running on time. Snow began failing here last night and has continued at intervals during the day. All trains over the line of the Northern Pacific are moving east and west.

ANOTHER GRAND

CONGRESSIONAL

Immigration Matters to Be Investigated.

The Question of Agricultural Depres sion Before the Senate.

The House Passes the Oklahoma Townsite Bill.

An Appropriation for the Columbia River-Democrats in Dread of Reports on Contested Election Cases.

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, (D.C.), Jan. 21.-[By the Aswashington, (D.C.), and 21.— By the As-sociated Press.] Senate.—Mr. Chandler of-fered a concurrent resolution, which went over till tomorrow, authorizing the Com-mittees on Emigration in the two houses to investigate the workings of the various laws—of the United States and of the several States in regard to immigration from foreign countries. The Senate resumed consideration of the bill discussed yesterday to require the Superintendent of Census to ascertain what percentage of the people own their farms, the number of farms and mortgages and amount thereof.

what percentage of the people own their farms, the number of farms and mortgages and amount thereof.

Replying to Mr. Vest's remarks of yesterday on the farm mortgage question, Mr. Teller remarked that agricultural depression was not peculiar to the United States. It prevailed in all countries of the world, except France. A recent Farliamentary inquiry had shown that British farmers had within twelve years sunk more than half of their capital; that the condition of the British farmers could not be attributed to the protective tariff. The trouble was neither due to free trade nor protection. Since the United States resumed specie payment in 1879 there has been a continuous drop in the prices of farm products. It was that which was making discontent and trouble. He moved that the bill be recommitted.

The discussion was kept up for nearly two hours, going largely over the questions of tariff, of silver, of over-production and steamship subsidies. It was further participated in by Messrs, Morrill. George, Stewart, Spooner, Vest, Blair, Plumb and Reagan.

Finally Mr. Hale, chalrman of the Census

Resgan.
Finally Mr. Hale, chalrman of the Census Committee, expressed willingness to have the bill recommitted as suggested by Mr. Teller, and belief that this would be the best disposition of it. The committee would then undertake to perfect the bill and would report it back at an early day.

The question of recommittal was taken by yeas and nays. The first vote resulted: Yeas, 22; nays, 14. As no quorum voted, there was a cail of the Senate, which showed that there were 53 Senators present. Some of them were paired.

The second vote resulted: Yeas, 26; nays, 20. This was accommitted by the transfer of pairs, and the bill was recommitted to the Census Committee.

The Blair Education Bill was then taken up, Mr. Blair demanding its reading, and after some discussion, it was arranged by unanimous consent that the bill be postponed until Monday week, and be then considered unfinished business.

Among other bills introduced was one to open abandoned military reservations in Nevada to homestead entry; also bills for a new lighthouse tender in the lighthouse district of Portland, Or.; granting to the city of Colorado Springs, in Colorado, certain lands for water reservoirs.

A bill reported from the committee and placed on the calendar legalizing the general laws of Arizona except as to certain repealing acts. leagan. Finally Mr. Hale, chairman of the Census pealing acts.

The House amendments to the Senate joint resolution appropriating $75,000 for lettles at the mouth of the Columbia River, Oregon, were non-concurred in, and a conference was saked.

After an executive session the Senate additional.

and passed.

Mr. Stewart of Georgia, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported a bill for the purchase of two sites, and for the erection of buildings for the confinement of Federal prisoners at a cost of $500,000 each, and appropriating $100,000 for the erection of a workshop.

prisoners at a cost of $500,000 each, and appropriating $100,000 for the erection of a workshop.

The House went into Committee of the Whole, and on motion of Mr. Clunie of California an amendment was adopted providing for three buildings, one to be located north and another south of the thirty-nint degree and east of the Rocky Mountains. The second section provides that convicts shall be employed exclusively in manufacturing for the Government.

Mr. Spinola of New York offered an amendment providing that they be not employed in the manufacture of any goods or merchandise that are manufactured in any part of the United States. Rejected.

Mr. McCreary of Kentucky offered an amendment providing that convicts are not to be worked outside the prison inclosure. Adopted.

Mr. Raines of New York offered an amendment providing that convicts be employed exclusively in manufacturing such supplies for the Government as can be manufactured without the use of machinery. Agreed to.

Pending further action the committee

rose.
Mr. McKinley reported back the Customs Administration Bill, and it was referred to the Committee of the Whole.
Mr. McKinley moved that the House go into Committee of the Whole, stating that as soon as the committee was in session he would move that it arise and adjourn.
This did not prove satisfactory to the Democrats, and Mr. Crisp moved an additional committee.

This did not prove satisfactory to the Democrats, and Mr. Crisp moved an adjournment.

The Speaker decided the motion lost—83 to 88. The yeas and navs were called for and the motion to adjourn was lost—yeas, 94; nays, 100.

Action then recurred on Mr. McKinley's motion to go into committee, but it was evident that the Democrats would demand the yeas and nays, Mr. McKinley moved to adjourn, which motion was agreed to.

The reason underlying Mr. Crisp's motion to adjourn was fear that the Committee on Election might report upon the contested-election case of Smith vs. Jackson, from the Fourth West Virginia District. He does not desire, and in this he has the full support of the Democratic side of the House, that any contested-election case shall be called up while the House is devoid of any regular rules for its government, and is dependent only on general parliamentary laws as construed by the Speaker.

"California on Wheels," the special

"California on Wheels," the special train of three palace cars bearing an exhibit of the produce of the Golden State, which is making a tour of the Eastern States, arrived at the union depot at 6 o'elock last evening.

The train, which presents no unusual appearance, except the lettering. "Cahfornia Fruit Exhibit Car," on the side of each coach, was boarded at the Jefferson Barracks by a Globe-Demoerat reporter, who was courteously received by Supt. Joseph McDonald, and introduced to his co-workers. The first car of the special train is entirely given upto an exhibit of various beautiful specimens of California fruits, tastefully arranged along the sides of the car in glass cases. The first case upon the left-hand side is devoted to a splendid display of various kinds of nuts. Then follows an exhibit of dried fruits, apricots, apples, peaches, raisins, figs, dates, plums and numerous others, the like of which are seldom seen. The next lot of cases contain a display of silk in various stages, from the raw cocon and the silk just unwound from it to which are seldom seen. Very few pecple know that cotton is raised in the Golden State, yet the samples exhibited in this car will compare favorably with the best raised in the cotton States. The left-hand side of the coach contains various other magnificent specimens, amongst which are bananas 4 inches in diameter and 7 inches long, weighing an average of 6 pounds each; a jar of red peppers 8 inches in diameter, and pears weighing 5 pounds each. The right-hand side of the car is largely a repetition of the other side. It displays some onlons 24 inches in circumference and weighing 7 pounds each; potatoes tipping the scale at 8 pounds, and quinces 17 inches in circumference. At the rear of the car is a wire basket containing a mammoth ostrich egg, and close by is a young ostrich stuffed and mounted. COL. W. H. H. RUSSELL TO BE COURT-MARTIALED.

Court of Inquiry Charges Him with Incompetency and Misappropriation of Funds - Appor tionment of School Funds-In Jail for Attempting to Defraud

In July last a court of inquiry was appointed by Brig.-Gen. E. P. Johnson, of the Seventh Regiment N.G.C., to examine into the conduct of Col. W. H. H. Russell, in command of the Seventh Regiment. Russell was charged with incompetency as an officer and the misappropriation of the funds of the regiment.

The investigation has been a long and tedious one, but it was concluded yesterday, and a report will be made to Gen. Johnson today. The court will, recommend that a court-martial be ordered at once, and if this is done refered at once, and it this is done col. Russell will be placed under arrest in a day or two. The court-martial will be drawn by either Gen. Dimond or Gen. Orton. The president of the court will have to be selected from one of the northern regiments, as Col. Russell ranks the officers of the Seventh Regiment. The other members will be selected from the officers of the regiment. Russell was elected Colonel of the regiment on the 5th of Colonel of the regiment on the 5th of June, 1888, and there has been more or less complaint among the men and officers ever since.

IN JAIL,

Charged with Trying to Defraud

His Creditors. Yesterday afternoon between 3 and lo'clock a man named Robert Hayward was arrested on a charge of attempting to leave the city for the purpose of defrauding his creditors, and ocked up in the County Jail, on the complaint of E. H. Bentley. Last night Hayward was seen at the County Jail by a TIMES reporter, to whom he told his story. He is an Englishman past middle-age, of respectable appearance, and makes a straight statement, ance, and makes a straight statement, denying any criminal intent. Hesays, in brief, that some eighteen months ago, being in need of money, he went to an English lawyer in the city named Gardiner, with whom he had had busi-Gardiner, with whom he had not business relations in the old country, and told him his circumstances. He said that his wife had property in England, and when he told Gardiner the fix he was in the lawyer told him that if he and his wife would make a note he and when he told Gardiner the fix he was in the lawyer told him that if he and his wife would make a note he and his partner, Bentley, would indorse it and he could get the money. He then made the note, as requested, and was told that I. Hellman, a money-lender on Third street, would advance the money on it. He took the note to Hellman, who gave him the money, charging him 2 per cent. per month interest. Hayward said that he had hard luck, and could not meet the note when it fell due, and some weeks ago his wife returned to England for the purpose of disposing of some property she owned in that country to pay the note against them. Since her departure he had received a letter stating that his presence was necessary to settle up the business, and it was his intention to go back. There was no concealment about this, and both Gardiner and Bentley knew all about it. He did not intend to defraud any one, and the note could be collected in England, as his wife has property there. Mr. Hayward further said that Gardiner and Bentley both knew he owned no property, but that it was in his wife's name, and for that reason she was made a party to the transaction. Besides this, he says, he was railroaded into the jail before he had a chance to consult with attorneys and friends. Mr. Hayward will probably be released today on the presentation of the facts in court, and says that he intends to take legal advice as to whether er not he has a case against the parties for false imprisonment.

A team belonging to Pierce Broscreated some excitement yesterday on Truman street and Downey avenue. Richard McSorly and Charles King were doing some hauling about the stable, when the team became unmanageable, throwing the men from the wagon and injuring Mr. McSorly quite seriously. The team ran down Truman street to Downey avenue, then up the avenue, upsetting a buggy and throwing a horse upon the sidewalk, but doing no special damage to the buggy or horse. The team then ran around the block and was aught near the stable whence they started. The Cross Railroad Company is laying ralls, and is now as far as the bridge. A team belonging to Pierce Bros.

WEST END BOARD OF TRADE.

The Water-franchise Question Discussed-Temple-street Regrading.
The West End Board of Trade met at its rooms at 1210 Temple street last evening, about thirty of the members being present.

C. H. Sessions reported progress in the matter of reservoir No. 4 lands. and the committee was continued.

The matter of the municipal control of the light and water of the city was strongly advocated, and the following was read from a New York journal:

was read from a New York journal:
Gas companies will probably be among the first to yield to the demand for municipal control of such arrangements as are indispensable for the comfort and safety of our cities. Already satisfactory experiments made in England have been excelled in America, as in Wheeling, W. Va., where the gas tax is 75 cents per 1000 for private persons. The streets and public buildings are lighted free, and $27,000 a year is turned into the city treasury from the profits,

The following was passed as the sense of the board: "That the City Council should grant no more franchises to water companies, and that the city should take immediate steps for putting in a piant of its own."

The Water Committee was instruct to formulate proper water rates, and prepare a report to be acted upon at the next meeting of the board.

It was declared the sense of the West End Board of Trade that the dummy road, known as the Cahnenga.

had for sale. The Judge took the cane to examine, when he saw some initials on the head, showing that it had been presented by some one to a friend. He accused the man of having stolen the cane, when the fellow turned and ran away. Judge Ray reported the case to the police station. He has the cane in his possession, and the owner can get the same by calling at the station and proving the property.

Chinese Gambler Arrested. Last night, between 8 and 9 o'clock, as Officer Roberts was passing up Alameda street, he noticed a crowd of boys, from 12 to 15 years of age, standing around a Chinaman, and on investigating discovered that the heather was running a sort of chuck-a-luck game, his implements being an empty orange box, on the side of which were some Chinese characters, a couple of Chinese bowls and three dice. The officer arrested the Chinaman and brought his outfit to the station. Here the Chinaman gave the name of Wong Wow and was locked up.

LIVE STOCK.

OSTRICHES have loomed into some prominence in Southern California, there being in 1889 360 birds, which produced $20,000 worth of feathers. As an exchange remarks, "the Ana-heim canary is a bonauza."

THE following points are claimed in correspondent of the Rural Press, Mr. A. Forbes, Eureka, Cal.:

The Holsteins give a greater flow of milk and maintain it longer than the Shortnorn or Jersey; they are better foragers and will make a living on a rough range where a Shorthorn would starve; the Hoistein calves learn to drink much easier than the other breeds, and have more sense about bunting over their milk dishes; they are not a liable to scout when changing from sweet milk to

THERE is a swindle in short-weight butter, in which it would seem that the dairyman is ahead of the poulterer, for the latter must put in 12 eggs for a for the latter must put in 12 eggs for a dozen and cannot get around it. There is a refuge, however, even in selling by the dozen, for the eggs may be so small that they are not more than half the equal of so many larger eggs, which bring only the same price. The remedy is, sell by weight, in which the producer of generous-sized eggs will be justly secompensed for the superior quality of his goods.

THE Leghorn is a small fowl, but that fact does not militate against its that fact does not militate against its market value so much as might be thought. It will weigh a pound as soon as chicks of any other breed, and as small fowls are often preferred by the purchaser the Leghorn stands a good chance of bringing the full price of a larger bird. The principal objection is that it flies like a hawk, being strong of wing and light of body, and whoever keeps it must either clip its wings or build a high fence.

What "not to have" in the way of hogs is graphically portrayed by a cor-respondent of the Chicago Prairie Farmer in his travels through Florida He says:

He says:

As to stock, aside from mules, it was the poorest I have ever seen. The hogs are all as black as the negro of pure blood, and I don't think I saw one that weighed 100 pounds, though of course there may have been better ones shut up that we did not see. The cows were about the size of a western yearling, and as beef and buttermakers they must prove a sorry failure. Nearly, if not quite, all the butter used at the hotels, is imported from the North. At the exposition they had a ball of butter, weighing four or five pounds, which the attendant showed us, and with great pride assured us that it was made in the State! In speaking to a gentleman who had resided there several years, of their interior stock, he illustrated it by saying that one of his neighbors killed a beef and took it to Jacksonville for sale, and that when he went ashore from the boat, he took a hind-quarter in each hand. He said the way they told when a hog was fit to kill was to lift him by the ears, and if his body overbalanced his snout they killed him, but if not they turned him out in the pines again. This may have been a slight exagreration, but I do not think it was much, judging from what we saw.

Add to this the fact that all their the said the proper in the pounds.

Add to this the fact that all their hay is brought from the north, that the only kind of grass is a species of wire grass which no animal will est unless starved to it, and that the traveler did not see anywhere in the State "enough tame grass to keep one horse alive," and it will be seen that Florida is not the paradise of the dairyman that Southern California is. dairyman that Southern California is.

Came to a Full Stop.

A slight accident occurred at the corner of Seventh street and Grand avenue last night about 10 o'clock, by which the passengers in a cable car were considerably shaken up. Some error was made in letting go the grip, and instead of the car swinging grace fully around the curve to Grand avenue it came to a sudden stop, which the passengers wildly forward. No one was injured, but it took about ifteen minutes to repair the damages to the car.

There was a break in the cable on the Grand-avenue and Plaza line yesterday morning which delayed the running of cars for an hour or two, but was repaired as rapidly as possible.

Stolen Cane.

Last evening as Judge C. C. Ray was walking on the street, he was approached by a rather disreputable looking individual, who offered him as gold-headed cane, which he said he had for sale. The Judge took the cane to examine, when he saw some initials on the head, showing that it had been presented by some one to a friend. He accused the man of having affined. These methods of disposition are all easy of accomplishment, without extra expense, and the proceeds are so nearly all clear gain that a man would certainly make a good living for a family from a 10-acre dairy. The profits of the Goleta (Santa Barbara county) creamery are stated by a local paper to be $75 a year per cow, and this being a large establishment, conducted with hired help, it would seem that a man doing his own work should be able to do as well.

THE attention of the authorities is called to the second faith cure or Christian science outrage recently enacted in this city.

THE interview on railroads with Dr. Conger in this issue will prove of especial interest to every citizen of this city and Los Angeles.

YESTERDAY seemed more like our orthodox winter weather; the sun was warm and penetrating, and everybody was out taking advantage of it.

In the opinion of many, the City Council erred in summoning Mr. Mayer, the City Engineer, for publicly expressing his opinion regarding he has traversed all of the country sewer question, but it showed its good judgment in refusing to take formal action. The matter is a personal one between Mr. Mayer and Mr. Polley, and we trust that these gentlemen, both in their several professions, can come to some amicable understanding.

WHILE the opera-house in this city pays it is not the bonauza that it might be if it were a little nearer the heart of the city. There is a demand here for a good ballroom for the festive occasions that lend gladness to our winter evenings. If the owners of the opera-house had a good flooring that could be put over the auditorium after the fashion in the East they could undoubtedly rent the building very often. Last year the Valley Hunt ball was given in the Carleton and was crowded, and this season the Webster parlor is the only available space-a beautiful room, but too restricted for the purpose.

EXTENSION OF TWO TRUNK LINES TO THE PACIFIC.

Dr. Conger Throws Some Light On an Interesting Subject-The Advantages of a Road Through the Arroyo Seco Pass.

"They will come as sure as you live," commisseration; now he rejoices in the said Dr. O. H. Conger to a Times representative yesterday on Colorado street in reply to a question put to him by the reporter as to the probabil-ity of the Union Pacific and the Denver and Rio Grande roads extending their lines to the Pacific Coast. "Come up to my house and I will show you some maps and data, which ought to furnish you plenty of interesting and

> The TIMES man was glad to accept the invitation. Anything relating to the extension of another trunk line through this section of country is of paramount interest to people here, especially when the news comes from a person as well informed as is Dr. Conger. As an assayer and metallurgist through which surveys have been run, and he is thoroughly acquainted with every portion of it in detail. The rich mining regions of Southern Utah and Nevada are altogether familiar to Dr. Conger, who superintended important operations there 25 years ago.

> Rio Grande and the Union Pacific, are contemplating an early extension of their lines to the Southern Pacific Coast, and it is likely that both lines will be built," began Dr. Conger. "The survey of the Denver and Rio Grande leaves the main line at Grand Junction, in the western part of Colorado. The line runs in a southwesterly direction, crossing the north branch of the Grand River, and afterward the Colorado River, between seventy-five and one hundred miles south of where the main line crosses it. The best line is then taken in a southwesterly direction, across Utah it. The best line is then taken in a southwesterly direction, across Utah to Red Virgin, between St. Thomas and Collville, in Southeastern Nevada. Another survey runs the line so as to strike the rich coal and iron fields in the writing translation.

The bids for park grounds are in. Mr. Shorb offers to sell thirty or forty acres at Marcelline for $400 per acre on long time, at 8 per cent., and a cash payment of some kind; or he will sell the entire tract of 185 scres for about $60,000, going in himself to the extent of $10,000, under conditions. Mr. Painter offers about forty acres of land with a graded track free for three years.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

Two Proposition's for Pasadens's Park.

Hon. H. W. Magee, chairman of the Park Commissioners, appointed recently by the citizens, has received formal propositions from J. de Barth Shorb and A. J. Painter for the sale of the tracts of land which have been deemed specially adapted for the purposes of the proposed park.

Mr. Shorb's proposition is as follows: "I will sell thirty or forty acres in the northwest portion of the Marcelline tract, adjoining Pasadena, for $400 per acre, on long payment, at 8 per cent; interest, and a cash payment as may be agreed upon. Or I will sell the entire tract of about 185 acres for $375 per acre, and will take in an organization formed. strong enough to handle such a proposition, $10,000."

Mr. Painter's proposition offers the free use for three years with a halfmile graded track of that portion of the south 40 acres of block I of the subdivided lands of J. H. Painter and B. F. Ball which lies north of the track of the City Railway Company and immediately east of the Lincolnavenne depot of the Altadena Rail, road. This land, Mr. Painter states, contains full water rights and has a well 150 feet deep, which is practice and mandately east of the Lincolnavenne depot of the Altadena Rail, road. This land, Mr. Painter states, contains full water rights and has a well 150 feet deep, which is practice and the point of the Altadena Rail, road. This land, Mr. Painter states, contains full water rights and has a well 150 feet deep, which is practice. When the propose is the propose is the propose is the propose i that there would be no difficulty in handling coal and heavy freight. This route would necessitate two tunnels—one 1800 feet long and the other 4000 feet. By increasing the length of the tunnels the maximum grade would be materially reduced. Another important advantage an Arroyo Seco road would possess would be its freedom from exposures to washouts and general damage resulting from storm or floods, owing to the lofty elevation at which it would necessarily be built. "Too much cannot be said of the nature of the country through which the surveys pass. I have already mentioned the exceptional mineral richness of Southern Utah and Nevada. I might add that the same section is a rich agricultural region, which only requires a railroad to develop its resources. Coming nearer home, a line through the Arroyo Seco Pass would traverse, within 30 miles of Los Angeles, dense timber lands, a rich coal belt, and valuable deposits of silver, gypsum and other metals and minerals of more or less value. "An extension of the Union Pacific is contemplated from Manti, in Central Utah, south toward the head of the Sevier River. The line then crosses the mountains to Beaver, and thence to St. George. From the latter point the general route is much the same as that traced by the Denver and Rio Grande survey.

"As I have said, both lines are al-traced by the Denver and Rio Grande survey.

"As I have said, both lines are almost certain to be built, and that survey will be chosen which runs through a country that offers the greatest natural resources and most favorable conditions for building the road. As I have shown, the Arroyo Seco Pass route possesses decided advantages over any other surveyed and it stands a correspondingly good chance of being chosen. Should this happen it will place Passadena on another trunk line, and it does, not require a farsighted citizen to see the good that is sure to result from such a state of sure to result from such a state of things."

A HORROR.

THE CHRISTIAN-SCIENCE FIEND AGAIN AT WORK.

A Girl Is Laid Out Alive-She Announces that She Is Not Dead-A Disgrace to the City-The Second Pasadena Faith-cure Horror -Whose Turn Next?

Further investigation yesterday into the death of Miss Addie Haas, which resulted Saturday evening last from consumption, substantiated the statement made in yesterday's TIMES to the effect that the mother of the deceased re-fused to let her daughter take medicine at times on account of her belief in the potency of faith to cure.

Health Officer McAllister investigated the case and issued a burial permit on the ground that the girl, who was but 19 years of age, had been allowed to receive medical treatment at times during the long illness that prein connection with Miss Haas's death is the fact that she was thought dead, and laid out, several hours before life had really departed. After she had remained in a trance-like state for some had really departed. After she had remained in a trance-like state for some time, the relatives and a few friends about the bedside, there being no doctor there, could discover no sign of life, and it was thought the end had come. The eyes were closed and covered with pieces of linen, and a cleth was bound around the head and under the chin. Imagine the horror of all present when, shortly after, the supposed corpse exhibited signs of returning life. Indeed, the hand of the dying one had strength sufficient left to remove the bandages from her eyes and loose the cloth from her head. There was a sign of consciousness on the face, indicating that the horror of her situation was understood, and about two hours later the girl's spirit took its flight.

Another account was to the effect that when the deceased stiffened out the Christian science or faith curists, supposing her dead, laid her out on the board, bound her face with linen bandages and put covers upon her eyes, and that she revived, and actually removed the bandages, and announced that she was not dead. It is said that back to the board, but it did not end there. Attorney Polley started the ball rolling by arising and in a lengthy argument attempting to show that Mr. Mayer's remarks not only reflected upon himself (Mr. Polley) and the Council, but that they were prejudicial to the city's interests in the coming suit on the sewer question. Mr. Polley held a copy of The Times in his hand, from which he read extracts from Mr. Mayer's remarks.

He argued that Mr. Mayer had attempted to put in a sewer system of his own to the detriment of the West system, and that he had made false assumptions regarding the incompetency of the city's attorucys. Mr. Polley, interspersed his remarks with were showered chiefly and with apparent relish upon Mr. Mayer, who was present to answer all charges made against him.

Mr. Mayer, at the conclusion of Mr. Polley's address, replied in a somewhat similarly complimentary fashion, and denied all intention to criticize the board or place it in a false light by anything he had said in the interview. He suggested that the sewer system had been plauned by himself, and that anything he had said in the interview. He suggested that the sewer system had been planned by himself, and that the West system simply related to the disposal of sewage. He disclaimed making any false charges against either the attorney or city.

The matter was discussed at length, and, after mature deliberation, the Council decided to take no formal action. discovery is not armed with an auger it is said he fires a hole into the barrel, injects a straw and sips the nectar to his heart's content.—[Anaheim Gazette.

"Witness" writes to THE TIMES that "Witness" writes to THE Times that the report published yesterday of the accident to Mr. Spurgeon was correct so far as it records the facts, "but the cause thereof was the refusal of the gripman to stop the car upon which Mr. Spurgeon desired to take passage. Unfortunately the gripman made no motion at all except to reduce the speed of the car, instead of coming to a stop as desired."

Mrs. Wilson, a friend of the Edwards.

Mrs. Wilson, a friend of the Edwards family, came to the TIMES office last night to say that it was all a mistake about any domestic trouble in that family, as has been published in several papers in the city. She says that she has lived next door to the family for two years past, and knows that the relations between Edwards and his wife have always been of the most pleasant nature.

Business was dull in the police courts yesterday. Besides the regular drunks, Judge Stanton only had two cases, V. Charles Duncan, charged with violating the license ordinance, who was fined $10, which was paid, and I. Gotthelf, charged with the same offense, whose case was continued. Judge Owens tried one case, kern, for disturbing the peace, who was fined $10, in default of which he was committed to jail.

The police yesterday recovered a lawn-mower that was stolen over a month ago. The mower was stolen by an old man named William Davis, who repainted the machine and took it to the auction house of Rhoades & Co., Boy on Second street, next door to the police station. On Tuesday the mower was sold, and the owner of it happened to come across it yesterday, when he identified it and reported the case to police headquarters. Detective Bosqui took the matter in hand, and soon landed Davis in jail, after which Mr. Rheades returned the money to the original purchaser. orignal purchaser.

Perfect Business System Always Wins Popularity, and Our Sys-tem Has Proved to Be Perfection.

Los Angeles, Thursday, Jan. 23, 1890.

We are booming right along. Customers are smilingly leaving our stores every minute of the day with bure bundles of bargains under the other. Our gift sale is a big go.

We courted and won popularity because our system is perfect, and our values way beyond the regular range. We got there because we underbuy and underseil every time. We always give the public values that throw up to ridicule the offerings of the old-timers. Our announcements and prices sweep the place like thunderbolts, twisting, turning and making laughing stock of the futile attempts of some of the old-timers to stem the current of our popularity. It can't be done. No use trying to keep the trade away from us. Our prices being louder than bells, sound sweeter than bands of music, are more attractive than life-size eards; they guide the people surely and safely every time to the store of the State, the People's Store, which is always trying to get prices a little lower. Our gift sale is now going on, and the huge piles of Cups and Saucers and fanny China and Glassware are fast disappearing. We want every household in this section to get a memento of our gift sale. Don't fail to come around.

A GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF OUR NATIONAL MUSEUM.

How the House Looks and What It Costs to Run It—Speaker Reed and How He Presides — Heavywell is and Alight — The Congress on Hairless Congressmen.

Hairless Congressmen.

Washington, Jan. 11.—[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

Washington, Jan. 11.—[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

Congressional museum is the most wonderful show in the United States. The three-acre tent which covers it is our national Capitol, and the two rings at either end of the building are opened at precisely 12 o'clook every day. In one the Senatorial acrobats balance the cannon-balls of legislation on the tips of their fingers and go through their gymnastics on the parallel bars under the eyes of Vice-Presignal Morton, and in the other in the parallel bars under the eyes of Vice-President Morton and in the other in the parallel bars under the eyes of Vice-President Morton and in the other in the parallel bars under the eyes of Vice-President Morton and in the other in the parallel bars under the eyes of Vice-President Morton and in the other in the measures three feet five and one-half inches. His flesh is solid and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he carries it well. He is by no means an intellectual nonentity, and he ranks so one of the leading men of its state will annote the will stay here until be becomes the fat old father of the flouse, the has been in Congress and it can the l through their gymnastics on the parallel bars under the eyes of Vice-President Morton, and in the other the President Morton, and in the other the 330 political giants and pigmies, clowns and freaks, trot out and show themselves to the buzz-saw directions of the biggest giant of them all, Thomas B. Reed, the Speaker.

It is a costly show. The people of the United States pay nearly four million dollars a year to keep it going, and the House of Representatives ring costs fully $2,500,000 yearly. The actors of the lower House are paid $1,800,000 a year in salaries, and the doorkeepers and understrappers, who run the messengers and clean the spittoons, get $700,000 more. The actors of the Senatorial circus cost us about $500,000 a year, and we pay just as a specific or the senatorial circus cost us about $500,000 a year, and we pay just as about $500,000 a year, and we pay just as much to John J. Ingalls, who spits fire from his mouth continually, as we do to George of Mississippi, whose chief distinction lies in the fact that he has sworn never to wear a dress suit or to ride in a carriage.

is the House of Representatives. It is the costliest dime museum of the Nathe costliest dime museum of the Nation, and as I sit in the press gallery, the biggest legislative hall in the world lies below me. It covers fully a quarter of an acre of ground, and six men as tall as Stewart of Texas, who is over six feet in his stockings, might stand one on the head of the other, and if the socks of the first rested on the floor, the gray hat, of the sixth would just graze the ceffing. The room is 36 feet high, and its floor is covered with 1700 yards of green velvet caroot of yards of green velvet carpet of a quality so good that it must have cost $3 a yard. The light of the showroom comes in through the ceiling, and this is made of iron and glass. This ceiling is made or iron and glass. This ceiling is made in panels, which are painted and gilded, and each bears the coat of arms of a State of the Union. Below this ceiling all around the room run banks of galleries which terminate at banks of galleries which terminate at the edges of a great central pit 15 feet deep, which forms the bear garden of Congress. In this pit the curiosities are caged. It is 151 feet long and 57 feet wide, and its walls are paneled in pink and buff paper, and around each panel is a gilt frame fine enough to bind a Titian or a Corot. In these walls are cave-like doors which lead to the cloakrooms, the barber shops and the lobbies of the House, and at each of the outer doors stand two men to keep the outside world away from the Congressional animals. But let us take a look at the animals themselves. There are 330 or them. But let us take a look at the animals themselves. There are 330 ot them, and they sit in half-moon rows of chairs rising one above another on the sloping floor of the chamber. Each has a little white wood desk in front of him, with a lid covered with blue baize. Behind each row of desks there are cane-seated office chairs, so fixed upon springs that the sitters can lean back and put their feet upon their desks when they will. Dockery of Missouri is sitting so now. The middle of-this half-moon of rows is bisected by an aisle, and on one side of this aisle are the Democrats, while the other side is given over to the Republicans.

THE HEAD SHOWMAN. Behind the marble desk and under he American flag, with the reporters

Barnes. Ga-Wheelet. Ala. and he is brainy enough. McKinley weighs 160 and Buchanan of New Jersey kicks the beam at 225. It takes 4000 ounces of flesh and bone that are eating away his hair, and Adams of Hilmois has a bald spot the size of a trade dollar at his crown, around which cranium, and nearly the same amount the remainder of his brown hair radiates. Cabot Lodge has short brown hair, which stands up all over his Gen. Spinols carries about 155 head, and La Foliette of Wisconsin is the House of Representatives. One hundred and forty-five pounds have sufficed to get up Henry Cabot Lodge's biographies of statesmen, and all of Holman's economy is ground out under the support of pure bone and sinew. Ben Butterworth weighs 200, and the oil of good living as well as that of good nature shines forth from his countenance. Dorsey of Nebraska gets along nicely on 150 pounds, and at the rate that we pay for the Congressional animal show these men cost us just $500 a pound every year. Estimating them at an average height of 5 feet 8 inches, their total height is 1870 feet, and the average cost is nearly $1500 a foot. It | Milburn, made the Democratic blind is the dearest beef and brains that was ever sold or hired by weight. | MISTORICAL CURIOSITIES.

Hooker of Mississippi, one of the most noted of the Southern members, lost an arm on the battle-field, and it was in battle that Henderson, Boothman of Ohio and Laws of Nebraska each lost one of his legs. legs.

THE LITERARY FEATURES. There are some literary curiosities in this great show. Amos Cummings in this great show. Amos Cummings may be called the editorial freak of the House. He is about 5 feet 8 inches high, dresses in business clothes, and has the student's stoop. His face is, fair. He has a broad forehead, dark brown hair and a sandy mustache, which hangs down over a good mouth. He sits in froat of the speaker, and he writes at his deak all day long, using a pencil and a pad of printing paper. He carries on a newspaper bureau in addition to his Congressional work, and doubles the amount of his Congressional salary by his pen. He is the only man in Congress who writes editorials at his deak and he reminds one of Horace Greeley, who did work while he was in the House, and whose famous mileage exposé has become a matter of history. Ex-Gov. Dingley of Maine is the editor and proprietor of a newspaper. Boutelle also owns a newspaper, and O'Dounell has a paper in Jackson City, Mich., which is said to pay him $10,000 a year. John T. Caine, the Mormon Delegate, is interested in the Salt Lake Herald, which is a paying sheet and well edited, and Henry Cabot Lodge adds to his income by writing works of political biography. He has a number of books in the American Statesmen series, and his pen is a fluent one. may be called the editorial freak of the

CONGRESSMEN WITH HOBBIES.

Judge W. H. Holman of Indiana is the economical freak of the House museum. He has been here for 24 years and during the whole of that time he has been cutting down the expenses of the Government on every tem. His knowledge of the cost of things is wonderful. He knows to a cent just how much every charwoman.

in the treasury gets and he can tell you to a mill what every brick in the new pension building cost. He is known as the great "objector," and he has killed many a bill by slinging cut his long finger at the Speaker and saying, "I object." Judge Holman is six feet tall and a foot and a half broad across the shoulders. His business clothes are hung upon his frame and Nature has been as stingy in her appropriation of fat to him as he is to the civil service in his giving out of the Government funds. His beard is now turning to iron gray and his brown hair has many white strands. He is fond of tobacco, and he sits in his seat with his pencil in his hand, and figures and chews all day long. He is fond of fine cut, but when he makes his campaigns in Indiana he is said to carry a plug of pig-tail twist, which he offers to his constituents. He is too economical to allow his voice melody and fullness, and he rasps out his speeches with the sound of a buzz-saw when it strikes a knot. He geatures in pump-handle style, and he is, in short, a statesman of the Blue Jeans Williams type. He is a kind-hearted fellow withal, and is as honest as the day is long. He is worth about $100,000, and has a fine farm in Southern Indiana.

Silver Dollar Bland has made all the reputation he has out of the bill which bore his name. I am told that Senator Allison was the author of the bill, but that it was given to Bland and he got the credit of it. Bland is a semi-bald, brown-whiskered, common-faced man of 54. He dresses in business clothes and evidently wears his suit a long time. He looks more like a country wears his suit a long time. He looks more like a country wears his suit a long time. He looks more like a country of 54. He dresses in Dusiness ciotness and evidently wears his suit a long time. He looks more like a country grocer than a famous Congressman, and he evidently has not a surplus of the silver which is being coined in his name. He comes from Ohio and first came to Congress in 1863 from Miscouri THE FUNNIEST MAN IN CONGRESS.

He is too good a fellow to be called the clown of the congressional musem, is Allen of Tupelo, Miss. Allen is is Allen of Tupelo, Miss. Allen is possessed of the genius of humor. Fun shines out through every line of his solemn face, and he is the best afterdinner speaker at Washington. Straight and slender, with the sallow complexion of the South, he has a low forehead which is rapidly rising through his paucity of hair toward his crown. He has a brown mustache, bright, black eyes and a face like a funeral. He is a good speaker, and is possessed of good abilities in other ways than those of humor. He is the only wit left in Congress, and he is the prince of those who have gone before. He outshines Jim Belford, and throws O'Neill of Missouri and Tim Tarsney of Michigan into the shade. He is a better story-teller than was Sam Cox and he could make a fortune as a lecturer.

House. He appreciates the disadvatage of his size, and it is said that he once had a great ambition to be an actor. He called upon Edwin Booth and asked his advice about studying for the stage. Booth told him that he had no doubt that he possessed histrionic talent, but he said, referring to one of Shakespeare's plays, "Suppose you were fighting a duel in which you were to be the leading character; you would probably hear a cry from the gallery asking your opponent to take one of his size. You are a bright fellow, but you are too little to be an actor." La Follettethen dropped the stage idea, studied law and is now making a reputation as a statesman.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS. The new Congressmen furnish their share of the curiosities. The only colored man in Congress is Cheatham share of the curiosities. The only colored man in Congress is Cheatham of North Carolina, who is a brighteyed, well-dressed, gingerbread mulatto, who has been a slave, and who is a college graduate and a lawyer, "Rising Sun" Morse is a broad-faced millionaire from Massachusetts, who makes a big head look bigger by a pair of fat side-whiskers. He started life by peddling stove-polish, and he is now devoting himself to sending seeds from the Agricultural Department to his constituents. John J. O'Neill, one of the funny men of the last House, is succeeded by a millionaire, and one of the brightest of the new men from Missouri is a black-haired brunette named Frank, who is all nerve and brain. Another nervous little fellow is Wison, from the State of Washington, who tells enough good stories to enable him to laugh himself fat, but who is as thin as a rail, and who looks as overworked as the horse of a bobtail car. Carter of Montana is a middle-aged man of more than ordinary ability. He is tall, brown-haired, fair-faced, and has straw-colored chin whiskers. Hansbrough of North Dakota is a rosy-cheeked, brown-mustached man of 30, who rejoices in coming from Devil's Lake, and who is an editor. One of has straw-colored chin whiskers. Hansbrough of North Dakota is a rosy-cheeked, brown-mustached man of 30, who rejoices in coming from Devil's Lake, and who is an editor. One of the curiosities of the House is Bullock of Florida, who states in the directory that he has a family of 13 children. He does not say how many of his children are girls. He is 60 years of age, has aided in founding a female institute, and has raised enough of a family to start this academy. Hitt of Illinois wears a red necktie. Bayne of Pennsylvania always has a pepper-and-salt business suit and Cabot Lodge parts his hair in the middle. William M. Springer never appears in the House without a rose in his buttonhole, and Stahlnecker of New York prides himself on his glossy side-whiskers, and is the handsomest man in the House. The youngest man is Magner of Brooklyn, and the oldest, in point of service, was the late Judge Kelly. Martin is, without doubt, the slouchiest Congressman, though he has improved since his coming here a few years ago. Henderson of Iowa has the loudest-voice. You could hear him across a 10-acre field. Boutelle of Maine is another loud talker, and he gestures quite as violently as he speaks. George D. Wise of Virginia is one of the most eloquent of the southern men, and Ben Butterworth can make as good a speech as any man on the Republican side of the House. All told, the Congressional show contains a number of very rare animals, and, though at least two huadred out of the three hundred and thirty among them could not make their $5000 a year any place else, fully one-third are worth the price paid for their employment, and earn it.

Frank G. Carpenter.

THE ORCHARD.

RIVERSIDE shipped 928 carloads of oranges in 1889, which shows the value of doing one thing well.

THE red scale at the Sierra Madre Villa orchard continues to disappear, and the promise is encouraging that the remedy for it is reliable.

To PRUNE a large limb without in some manner protecting the stub is something like amputating a finger and expecting it to heal nicely without dressing the wound.

THERE is a loquat tree at Pasadena that bore $20 worth of fruit the past year. It is a large one, and is the prop- Fort street, near Temple, may be seen erty of James Clark, on Marengo avenue

THREE and one-quarter acres of lemons (316 trees) in John Amber's orchard at Etiwanda brought last ar $1475, or nearly $400 an acre. Two year-old trees yielded $43.75 worth

E. A. BONINE of Pasadena has found a use for Japanese persimmons that promises to enlarge the demand for them. He dries them, and is so well pleased with the result that he is going to plant two or three hundred more trees the coming season.

In pruning do it with a view to keeping down the height of the tree. This may be materially retarded by judicious pruning, and when the tree finally grows too high, as it ultimately will in spite of everything, cut the top squarely off and let it take a fresh start.

An exhange sneers at newspaper advice to farmers, in which the editor does not exhibit his usual good sense. The cooperation of journalism with the farmer has advanced the latter in-terest 50 years, and produced a rural prosperity which enables the exchange in question to exist.

Suppose a big limb is cut off from a tree, and the stub left unprotected by paint or wax. Soon it cracks, and not only do insects enter, but water runs down to the center, which in a brief time produces a pithy, rotten and weak heart, the tree loses its strength, and a strong wind breaks it off strong wind breaks it off.

Now is the time to prune deciduous trees, such as have not been already pruned. The frost has shed the leaves, driven the sap down, and put the tree in a generally dormant condition, ready for the operation, in which it has done a good thing. Frost is Nature's anesthetic, which she gives the trees to enable them to undergo, without injury, the amputation of their branches.

Ir would seem from all we hear about Riverside that she raises more oranges than all of Los Angeles county, yet it appears from the Pomona Progress' careful estimate that Los Angeles beats San Bernardino by 555,000 boxes to 383,000. The total for Southern California is 960,000-boxes or 3350 carloads. Fresno estimates that that is just the number (960,000) of her boxes of raisins this year, if nothing happens.

THE date-palm is a plant that will yet be grown extensively and profit-ably in Southern California and Arizons. The date is one of the plants introduced by the mission fathers, and has succeeded well, but for some reason has been so far neglected that it has not been grown to any considerable extent. It is a valuable plant when its growth has been made a specialty, and will yet rank as a food product very near to the clive. Its growth requires heat and moisture, and its presence is considered a sure condition of the proximity of water.

THE value of late oranges is strongly impressed by a return just published, of the sale in Boston of 30 boxes of of the sale in Boston of 30 boxes of Florida oranges of the "Hart's Late," or "Tardiff" variety. They brought $211 for the 30 boxes, netting the grower $186.05, which good return the Florida Agriculturist calls "an oasis in a desert of blusted hopes." The Tardiff is an orange not ripe before March, and is claimed to keep on the trees in good condition until August. The Valencia has a similar quality, and may prove equally valuable for Californians.

FLORIDA orange-growers plant their trees so close together that the limbs will touch, or nearly so, and permit the will touch, or nearly so, and permit the limbs to grow close down to prevent the bad effect of the cold winds. A traveler there says that it is necessary to buy fertilizers to the value of half the crop annually to keep the groves in condition; also, that the owners of nearly all the groves are in debt for money borrowed to carry on the business; that the interest has not been paid for the past three years, and that the parties who loaned the money dare not foreclose, because the groves will not bring enough at forced sale to repay the principal. It is only a few of the older groves, that have been planted some thirty years, that pay well. well.

Now is the time to cut scions for grafting. They should be put in a cellar or other cool, damp place, heeled in in sand; leaving the top end out a couple or three inches. If left in a warm place the buds will swell, and the scion will be lost. The prudent man will look after his scions at least ouce a week. The success of grafting depends upon the scion. If the latter is not good the labor is lost, and a year's growth with it. A recipe for grafting wax may be had of the nurseryman or bought ready-made. When the top of a tree is cut off for grafting this deprives the trunk of its accustomed sheltering shade. If not protected artificially, the hot sun will sour the sap as it rises, and not only is the graft liable to be destroyed, but the whole tree also. To avoid this wrap the exposed trunk with sacking or matting, and keep it thus protected until it has looked out for itself by furnishing branches and leaves for its own shade. All large limbs that are cut off and not used for grafting should have the stub waxed or painted over, both to keep the water out and keep them from drying out. The same rule holds good in pruning. The prevailing winds are from the south and west, and this has a tendency to incline the tree to the opposite direction. To counterbalance this, leave, in pruning winds come. In pruning, do not leave the foliage so scant on the south side as to let the sun strike the trunk. This will absorb the sap, which is the lifeblood of the tree, and prevent its ascending the trunk. The result is a loss of fruit, or poor quality. This will often be noticed in a tree whose south-side foliage has been injured accidentally. Now is the time to cut scions for grafting. They should be put in a

APIARY.

THE honey crop of San Bernardino county for 1889 was $70,000 pounds, worth nearly $20,000, in which, as in many other lines, "Old Berdoon" shows herself to be productive and prespective.

THE bee year begins about May 1st and ends about November 1st, giving a season of half the year. Within this season or half the year. Within this time the bee makes more than he eats, or in other words establishes a bank account. During the remaining half year he also makes some honey, and may make more than "expenses," but it is not to be relied on, and the prudent bee-keeper will have some honey left over for feed rather than run the risk of having to buy sugar. risk of having to buy sugar.

AT the office of Mr. C. N. Wilson, samples of a new honey rack which has many advantages over the old. It is made of sugar-pine instead of redwood as formerly, and is better for several reasons: First, it holds together more tenaciously than redwood, which easily gives way from its nails and allows the drawer to pull apart in the endeavor to remove it. Second, it does not "taste" the honey, as the redwood is liable to do, nor color it as the latter sometimes will. In these respects it appears to be equal to the basswood rack, imported from the East, and has over the latter the advantage of being a California manufacture, keeping the money at home. samples of a new honey rack SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, from its natural wealth of flowers, is the home of the bee, and its work here should be more advantageous than elsewhere. be more advantageous than elsewhere, owing both to this fact and to the additional one that they are hibernated for a briefer season by stress of weather, and consequently lose less time. A country where they are producing nearly all the time has great advantages over one where they are for half or more of the year "lying on their oars" and consuming a great part of the product of the working season. To this fact, chiefly, is this State indebted for being, even in its infancy, a large honey-producing and honey-exporting country. This point ney-exporting country. This point has gone far to counterbalance the cost of the other sweets imported in the shape of sugar.
